

Do you want a lucrative and rewarding sales career?

We are seeking highly motivated individuals to be Sales Producers in our Property & Casualty practice. We are looking for the best of the best! If you love to sell, are interested in attractive compensation packages and are consistently in the top 25%, apply now!

Why USI? Here are a couple of reasons to start a career and not just another job.

USI Insurance Services LLC is the eighth largest Insurance broker in the United States* and is a Goldman Sachs Portfolio Company (www.usi.biz). We have recently been introducing new tools, resources and excitement surrounding our Commercial P&C Practice Nationwide.

Technology; Training & Support:

USI's new producers are trained in exciting classes with colleagues around the country as well as on an ongoing basis locally. We also give you tremendous support through our mentoring program to ensure you have every opportunity for success.

USI provides our Producers with an ongoing source of warm lead introductions and prospect lists to call upon - not just a phone and a desk!

USI is developing drip marketing materials, exposure to major associations, key carriers and other opportunities intended to improve your ability to successfully generate and close prospects and retain clients.

USI's value propositions are developed and resources are available to support you locally, regionally and nationally.

USI has a sophisticated intranet tool that enables our Producers to have the most recent product information from our carrier business partners; research tools and internal resources including in-house industry experts and in house cross-sell partners. In other words, we can provide cross and team-sell referrals with our Employee Benefits practice.
